

Comptroller General Walker Warns of Danger of Current Fiscal Outlook

“The American people need to realize that the fiscal choices being made in Washington today have profound consequences for the future of our country, and our children. In a nutshell, these fiscal choices will directly affect our future national security, economic vitality, and quality of life.”

–GAO Comptroller General David M. Walker
Speech to National Press Club
February 2, 2005